

CRISP ASSETS RUSSELL INCREASES DEFICIT AND FLAYS HIS CHARGES AS 'VIOLENTLY FALSE'

SENATE PASSES NEW RELIEF BILL IN SHORT ORDER

Bill in Upper House Carries All Provisions of One Receiving Veto With Exception of Provision for Individual Loans.

HOUSE SUBSTITUTE IS AT VARIANCE

Ten-Hour Session Sees Three Amendments Passed and Several Killed By Determined Solons

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—A new unemployment relief bill, which administration leaders on Capitol Hill believed President Hoover would accept was swept through the senate tonight by an irresistible bi-partisan coalition.

There was hardly a murmur of opposition as the gigantic $2,100,000,000 measure, modified to meet some of the president's objections, passed the senate without a record vote after less than five hours of debate.

It now goes to the house as an amendment to a bill which already has passed that body and can be adopted there without further ado. It was possible, however, that house leaders would insist upon consideration of their own measure, which the ways and means committee approved earlier today.

Snag Looms Ahead.
The house bill was more acceptable to the administration and republican leaders were expected to seek its adoption, rather than acceptance of the senate measure.

It would require that the bill go through the senate again, while the house by accepting the senate version could send it immediately to the White House.

The senate bill contained authorization for loans to individuals through the 12 federal reserve banks, approved by the federal reserve board. The senate limited operation of this clause to two years.

The senate bill also contains a clause requiring publicity for all loans made hereafter by the reconstruction corporation. Some administration senators were doubtful about this provision.

The house bill contains neither of these controversial provisions.

Increases Corporation.
In order to pass the bill tonight, the senate stayed in session until 9 o'clock, after meeting at 11 in the morning.

Senator Robinson, democratic leader, forced it to stay in session to approve the bill and engineered defeat of a motion to quit soon after the bill was taken up early in the evening. Immediately after taking up the new bill the senate tackled on amendments. It approved reorganizing the Reconstruction Corporation by taking out as ex-officio members Governor Eugene Meyer, of the federal reserve board, and Paul Bestor, farm loan commissioner. This President Hoover requested, but the senate rejected his recommendation for increasing the board's membership to eight.

It adopted an amendment to permit the reconstruction unit to lend on assets of closed banks and another to prevent the corporation from making loans to aid foreign marketing of farm products.

Marketing Fund Beaten.
But it turned back an attempt to strike out a section authorizing loans or general foreign marketing of agricultural products.

Doomed Youth Appears Before State Executive

JACKSON, Miss., July 12.—(AP) Petitioned from many sources for executive clemency for Paul Wexler, 18, of Hattiesburg, under sentence to die on the gallows Thursday for a fatal filling station hold-up, Governor Bennett today conferred for an hour with the condemned youth in his private chambers.

Two ministers and two guards accompanied Wexler to the executive chambers.

Immediately after the examination the chief executive issued the following statement: "I have absolutely nothing to say at this time. As soon as I make a decision I will announce it."

M'DONALD DENIES PART IN ATTEMPT TO FORCE REVISION

Commons Is Told None Can Blame America for Stand on World War Obligations.

LONDON, July 12.—(AP)—With an eye to the storm of criticism aroused in Washington, the British government today denied the Lausanne agreement, which virtually ends German reparations, was based on any secret Anglo-American understanding that the United States would cut or cancel war debts.

This denial, which almost flatly contradicted a declaration made before the house of commons yesterday by Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain, was followed by a statement from Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald that nobody could blame the United States for its war debt policy.

The prime minister, who was in fighting mood so far as his British critics were concerned but was delicately diplomatic in his handling of controversial issues affecting America, went before the house of commons for the first time since the Lausanne conference.

Hits Churchill.
He hit back hard at criticism voiced yesterday by Winston Churchill, who said Europe had endangered her credit with America by signing the "gentlemen's agreement," under which the lightening of Germany's reparations burden does not become effective until the solution of all the economic problems which have afflicted the world since the war.

David Lloyd George made one of his infrequent appearances at Westminster to hear the MacDonald speech. He didn't like it.

The veteran liberal leader insisted that the Lausanne agreement could lead to the solution of all the economic problems which have afflicted the world since the war.

Power Rate Increase Given Police Radio

Temporary permission was granted to Atlanta police radio station WPDY by the federal radio commission Tuesday to operate on a power output of 400 watts "for the purpose of determining the effect of the increase in power necessary to cover surrounding territories."

The police radio immediately stepped its sending power up to that notch and began the tests.

O. H. Pendley, secretary of the police commission, explained that the higher power had been requested in an effort to assist Fulton and DeKalb county police cars equipped with radio sets.

Roosevelt, in Connecticut, Is Pledged Fresh Support

BY WALTER T. BROWN.
STONINGTON, Conn., July 12.—Replying to the assurances of Rhode Island democratic leaders that the state had locally supported former Governor Smith would be in the democratic column again this year, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today referred to Mr. Smith as "our old friend."

The Rhode Island group, headed by J. Howard McGrath, of Central Falls, chairman of the state central committee, visited Mr. Roosevelt on his sail boat at the end of the second day of the presidential nominee's vacation at sea.

Answering McGrath, Roosevelt said: "I not only understand but greatly appreciate Rhode Island standing by our old friend, Governor Smith, and I know now I am going to receive the same display of loyalty."

He makes 50 more miles. Rhode Island was one of five states Mr. Smith carried in 1928, and it remained with Smith to the end of the Chicago convention.

100 Heads of Destitute Families in Egan Park Put in Day's Work Under Self-Help Program

G. L. McCleskey, an employee of the public works department of the Fulton county commission, is shown dishing out food to a squad of workers at Egan Park who on Tuesday morning began the operation of the county's self-help plan. A total of 93 jobless men took advantage of the county's offer, and in return for each day's work on streets in that vicinity each was given an order for $1.25 worth of groceries. In addition the men are served a substantial midday meal. Staff photo by Sandy Sanders.

Fulton county's "self-help plan" went into operation Tuesday morning at Egan Park when nearly 100 needy heads of families in that area were given light work on the streets adjoining the municipal airport. In return for this work the county gives each man an order for groceries in addition to his midday meal.

Another self-help camp will be opened this morning in the Lakewood section, followed by others in the Cook and Adamsville districts and the Buckhead section, according to an announcement of Walter Stewart, Fulton county commissioner.

Early Tuesday 93 men, ranging in age from 20 to 50, reported to G. L. McCleskey, a county employee, for work on Virginia avenue bordering Candler field. They were furnished with the necessary equipment and put in the morning and afternoon cutting grass and weeds.

These men almost without exception are heads of families and most of them have children under 12 years of age. For the most part they are workers in factories at Hapeville which have been closed down for a year or more. The men were in good humor, and declared that the county's aid would tide them over until they could return to regular work.

"It beats hunting for a job," one elderly worker said. "I've been looking for work going on nine months."

He added that the factories that had closed down had kept going as long as they could, in one case at a loss, and he had the kindest feeling for the owners.

At 11:30 o'clock John Q. Nash, superintendent of the Fulton County reformatory, who was delegated by the commission to give general supervision to operations in his district, drove up and announced that the force might knock off for lunch.

So with hoarse shouts and grass hooks on their shoulders the men fell into line and marched like a small army to the woods near by. There, while they waited for the food to be brought up, Mr. Nash formed them into squads, each with its boss, so that dining operations as well as the work could proceed.

SENATE APPROVES HOME LOAN BANK

Measure To Make $1,800,000 Available To Foreclose Mortgages.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(UP)—The senate late today passed the home loan bank bill making $1,800,000,000 available to save mortgaged homes from foreclosure and calling for a $1,000,000,000 increase in the supply of money of approximately $1,000,000,000.

Passage of the measure was without record vote and came after a week of debate punctuated by sporadic attacks in an amendment offered by Senator William E. Borah, republican, Idaho, who made a vigorous plea for an "honest dollar" in urging its adoption.

It was in the form of a substitute for similar currency expansion proposals approved by the house and stricken out by the senate banking and currency committee.

The measure now goes to conference for adjustment of differences. It is the last of President Hoover's rehabilitation proposals but despite this his close advisers have indicated he will veto the bill unless the increased currency recommendation is eliminated.

High treasury officials and federal reserve board executives are supporting President Hoover in his opposition to this proposal. Only last night in a radio address, Mr. Hoover said that he was not in favor of the measure.

The yacht Myra II slipped in behind the breakwater as the sun dropped below the low hills across the harbor.

Used or more assorted craft, canoes, rowboats and small power boats trailed the yawl to her anchorage and hovered around her as the Roosevelts prepared their supper.

Since he left Fort Jefferson on Long Island yesterday, the governor has traveled 75 miles. Tomorrow he hopes to make Woods Hole on Buzzards Bay, across from New Bedford.

"It was a great day," said Mr. Roosevelt, relaxing after eight hours at the wheel. His face was red from the sun and wind.

"It's very unusual to get a north wind here," he said.

Illinois Miners' Army Encamped at Capital

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12.—(UP)—More than 1,500 Illinois coal miners camped tonight in parks near the tomb of Abraham Lincoln after swarming into the state capital to protest a proposed reduction in their wages.

On foot, in automobiles and in trucks the coal miners, most of them wearing overalls, came from southern counties where coal mining is the principal industry.

They came to make a mass protest against a wage agreement reached in Chicago last week between their representatives and men representing the owners of the mines. This agreement called for a reduction in the basic wage scale to $5 a day.

REYNOLDS' WIDOW FORSAKES SCENE OF MATE'S DEATH

BY A. F. LITTLEJOHN.
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 12.—(AP)—Libby Holman, who six weeks ago arrived here as the bride of Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir, and mistress of the palatial family estate, stumbled to the steps of a slow passenger train here this afternoon and began a 16 1/2-hour journey to her Cincinnati home, a widow sobbing her grief before a small crowd of curious spectators.

Meanwhile, from his office in the imposing granite block, courthouse Sheriff Yanson Scott made formal announcement of the investigation of the mysterious pistol bullet death last Wednesday of the 20-year-old Reynolds was not closed. A coroner's jury last night attributed the death, which came just after a gay party, to persons unknown.

No member of the Reynolds family accompanied the widow, Broadway's favorite singer of blues songs, to the funeral.

Supported and comforted by her father, Alfred Holman, Cincinnati attorney; her mother, and a sister, Mrs. Myron Kahn, she arrived at the station at 3:20 in an automobile driven by one of the Reynolds' chauffeurs.

The chauffeur opened the door. Mrs. Kahn and Mrs. Holman helped the weeping lady to the ground, and while a battery of news cameras clicked, half carried her over intervening railway tracks and the platform to the rear door of the one Pullman train.

Man's Body Found Hanging in House

After being missed from his home for most of the day, C. H. Starling Sr., president of the Dyard Construction Company, was found dead in a storage house on DeKalb avenue, near Howard street, late Tuesday afternoon. The body was hanging from a crossbeam, a window cord tied about the neck.

Starling, who was 63 years of age, had caused his family apprehension during his absence from his home at 40 Adams street, Decatur, since early Tuesday morning. His son, C. H. Starling Jr., began a search for his father early Tuesday afternoon.

The body was taken to H. M. Patterson & Son, where an inquest will be held today. The younger Starling said he could ascribe no reason for his father's act.

H. S. Pickett, 34, 288 Josephine street, charged with drunk and disorderly, was prevented from strangling himself to death in a police cell late Tuesday afternoon when the turnkey cut a strong hemp string which Pickett had tied about his neck and then tried to hang himself. He was not badly hurt.

House Abandons Plan To Slash Officer List

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—The house today receded from its proposal to eliminate 2,000 regular army officers, making possible final enactment of the long-delayed $300,000,000 war department supply bill.

The vote was 154 to 175 to retain the 2,000 officers which Representative Collins, democrat, Mississippi, had sought to retire.

It came on a compromise motion by Collins to reduce the officer personnel from 12,000 to 11,000 in view of the senate's refusal to accept the 2,000 cut.

While proclaiming his advocacy of economy in government, Governor Russell seems to believe in it only as affecting the other fellow. He fails to tell you that my salary has actually been reduced 10 per cent and that I advocated and voted for a reduction of 25 per cent therein, while his salary of governor and the salaries of the various members of the Russell family holding public office have not been reduced one cent.

He makes a bitter attack on the power companies, with which I have no connection, directly or indirectly, on account of the rates charged, but fails to remind the people that the fixing of such rates in Georgia is determined not by Congress but by the public service commission of Georgia and fails to state why he, as a legislator and as governor, has done nothing to remedy such a situation.

He speaks feelingly of the love of the people of Georgia for my lamented friend, Honorable William J. Harris, but does not say that he ever did anything to promote the political interests of that distinguished man while he lived and does not state that he failed to tender the appointment to the senate to the widow of Senator Harris because it was necessary to use that appointment to advance his own political plans.

The only visible effects of the reorganization bill is that... he Congressman Challenges Opponent Also To Take Unequivocal Stand on Prohibition; Asks Where Russell Was in 1928.

Members of Russell Family on State Pay Roll Have Suffered No Decrease in Salaries.

CRISP'S SALARY CUT, GOVERNOR'S NOT HIT

Aggressive, logical, and frank, was the opening address made by Congressman Charles R. Crisp when Tuesday night he opened over WGST his campaign for the senatorial nomination.

With a clarity and a conciseness which reveal the sound thinker and the experienced speaker, he rendered the people of Georgia an account of his congressional service and informed them, without evasion or reservation, of his views on the important current problems which demand the thoughtful attention of statesmanship.

In the matter of the prohibition controversy, Mr. Crisp stated forthrightly that while every vote he has cast in congress has been dry and while he will personally continue to advocate temperance, that he is a democrat and will therefore vote to submit to the people the question of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment as prescribed in this party's platform.

"This is such a highly controversial question," said Mr. Crisp, "it should be settled by the people themselves. Under our form of government the majority have the right to translate their wishes into law."

And Mr. Crisp added: "Having openly and publicly declared my position on this question, the people of Georgia are entitled to and should demand that Governor Russell declare where he stands."

Tax on Electric Energy.
Congressman Crisp charged that Governor Russell has been unfair in his criticism of the former's share in the 3 per cent levy on electric energy, the consumer to pay tax.

Mr. Crisp asserted that the governor "unfairly fails to state that this and all other nuisance taxes would not have been levied had congress not advocated the manufacturers' sales tax defeated by me."

It was brought out by Congressman Crisp that payment of the tax by users of electric energy is in line with the other taxes which must be paid by the consumers, such as the tax on

The bride was attended by Mrs. Blumenthal and the bridegroom by Bert Lytell. The couple had obtained a license in the afternoon. Dean Says Lindbergh Never Believed Curtis
HOLLYWOOD, Fla., July 12.—(AP)—The Very Rev. Dean H. Doherty, pastor of Christ church, Norfolk, Va., and former associate of John Hughes Curtis, today declared Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh never believed Curtis' assertion of contact with the Lindbergh baby kidnappers. "Colonel Lindbergh," Dean Doherty said, "was unwilling to neglect any clue and gave written permission for negotiations to be carried on by Curtis and that permission is still in the hands of Rear Admiral G. B. Burroughs." "I am confident Curtis was acting sincerely," the cleric asserted.

DRY STRATEGISTS IN SECRET SESSION

Prohibition Enactments Will Stand All Attacks, Leaders Declare.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 12.—(UP)—Dry organization leaders began a series of secret strategy conferences here tonight for a crucial "back-to-the-wall" fight in the coming campaign. They predicted the 18th amendment and the Volstead act will withstand all attacks despite the growth of "wet" sentiment in both parties and the increasing but thus far unsuccessful agitation in congress for a change. There were indications as the meetings started that organized dries would openly throw their support behind President Hoover. This would be based on the chief executive's "record" and the 100 per cent "wet" stand of his democratic opponent, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, as well as the obvious fact that the platform on which Mr. Hoover will stand for re-election declares only for recommitment, while democrats and their candidates came out flatly for repeal and modification of the Volstead act.

Whether the dry organizations will come out openly for President Hoover may be determined at the conferences which began tonight. They may wait until his acceptance speech in August before taking a position. They may not openly endorse the president, but content themselves with informing their supporters of the positions of the parties, leaving to the rank and file the deduction as to how to vote. Their major function in this campaign will be to elect dry officials "from president to constable" in their effort to protect the law, according to Dr. F. Scott McBride, legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League. He outlined the strategy to the United Press in the dreary little office overlooking the capitol where Wayne B. Wheeler for years directed his fight for prohibition. The surroundings were gloomy, but Dr. McBride maintained a casual air of optimism as he talked. That same office was the scene tonight of the meeting of the six members of the league's administrative

Party Man Again Seeks Presidency of Nation

WILKES BARRE, Pa., July 12.—(AP)—Deciding to run again for president of the United States, John J. "Butch" McDevitt, who once spent a fortune on a one-night party, says he will stand on a platform calling for a national lottery to finance the government.

When he announced the platform yesterday McDevitt admitted he did not think his present chances are any better than they were in 1916. At that time, his nomination occurred during the height of a party he was giving in New York, financed by an unexpected legacy to which he fell heir.

Prominent among those present was Bishop James Cannon Jr., the militant cleric, who still retains the confidence of the dry organizations despite his difficulties with senate committees. Another meeting will be held tomorrow night. They are preliminary to the meeting of the so-called "prohibition board of strategy," embracing leaders of all dry organizations, which will be held here Thursday and Friday. Participating in the league meeting were Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, Chicago, president of the league; Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, J. A. White, Columbus, Ohio, lawyer, and Dr. M. P. Boynton, Chicago.

BRITEN SEES PASSAGE OF BEER BILL IMMINENT
WASHINGTON, July 12.—(UP)—A prediction that President Hoover would sign a beer bill if one were passed was made today by Representative Fred Briten, republican, Illinois, who has sought in vain to get another house vote on modification of the Volstead act before congress adjourns. Briten based his forecast on a letter written by Mr. Hoover in 1918 as food administrator. The letter, often used by "wets," advised against a cessation of brewing on the ground it would injure the grain industry and added "it is mighty difficult to get drunk on 2.75 per cent beer."

HEADQUARTERS MOVED BY AMERICAN AIRWAYS

Sweeping changes in operations plans and executive personnel of American Airways, air mail and passenger transport company, with lines from Atlanta to Los Angeles and the Great Lakes to the Gulf, were announced Tuesday by President LaMotte T. Cohn, New York, in a communication to Willis B. Haviland, Atlanta traffic representative. These changes include:

Elimination of divisional offices at Dallas and St. Louis, formerly southern division and central division, respectively. Operations of the southern transcontinental line, Atlanta to Los Angeles, will be directed from Fort Worth, where executive offices, machine shops and overhaul-maintenance departments will be located. E. Warren Oakes, vice-president, will be in charge of the company's mail, passenger and express traffic. Both Mr. Oakes and Mr. Smith will have their headquarters in St. Louis. Colonel Halsey Dunwoody, who has been vice president and general manager of the central division with headquarters at St. Louis, has resigned.

YOUNG IS NAMED TO TRADE BOARD

Atlanta To Help Stimulate Business Under New Credit Plan.

H. Lane Young, executive vice president and general manager of the Citizens & Southern National bank, Tuesday was appointed a member of a special committee of the American Acceptance Council, to represent the sixth federal reserve district in a campaign of education of the new plan to introduce the use of trade acceptances as a more flexible base for financing business.

The trade acceptance plan of financial transaction has been adopted as a means of stimulating business and supplants the straight bank loan method generally employed. The American Acceptance Council, which has an influence of nationwide scope in the banking field, has joined with the banking and industrial committees of the 12 federal reserve districts in an effort to popularize the trade acceptance form of business credit.

A "trade acceptance," Mr. Young

Gangs Hoarding Cash, Economist Declares

UNIVERSITY, Va., July 12.—(AP)—Five hundred millions dollars in "centuries and grands" has been withdrawn from circulation in the United States by members of the underworld since Al Capone was arrested, and the Seabury investigation was started, Robert Warren, economist, told the Virginia Institute of Public Affairs today.

He estimated that Americans are hoarding two billion dollars in cash. This was withdrawn mostly in hundred, thousand, and ten thousand-dollar bills, he answered in response to a question regarding government issues of a hundred million dollars in ten thousand dollar bills.

explained Tuesday, is simply an ordinary bill, or draft, indorsed by two names instead of one, representing in most transactions the corporation selling a bill of goods and the buyer. It is regarded as a prime security by most banks because of its double indorsement. Under the new plan banks will honor the trade acceptances, buying or discounting the bills.

The new method of financing, Mr. Lane pointed out, usually is a means used by a manufacturer who desires to purchase new supplies of raw materials. Instead of paying outright cash or securing a loan at the bank, he pays for the raw material on a 90-day basis, giving a trade acceptance bill with double indorsement. This is immediately honored by the bank receiving it from the producer.

Mr. Young said he will serve in a co-operative capacity with the recently organized banking and industrial committee of the sixth district federal reserve bank, and his work will have to do with educating the business and industrial interests in the availability and desirability of using the trade acceptance bills in everyday transactions.

CITY AND COUNTY SURVEY APPROVED

Accountants To Study Use of Funds Under Supervision of League.

With all opposition having been removed, a fiscal survey of the county and municipal government of Fulton county and Atlanta has been started under the supervision of the Taxpayers' League, it was announced Tuesday by R. C. Mizell, president of the league, and E. W. Gottesrater, chairman of the committee of two accounting firms which have volunteered their services.

As a result of a conference in June with Mayor James I. Key, representing the city; Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the county commission, and Mr. Mizell, the survey was proposed. Subsequently, however, opposition developed among members of the county commission, and the actual start on the survey was held up until this objection was smoothed out.

Recently, it was said Tuesday, all such opposition on the county commission gave way to a decision to permit the survey, and the city officials likewise announced they would co-operate in every way. Two accounting organizations, the Atlanta chapter of the Georgia Society of Certified Accountants, and the Atlanta chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, will co-operate in making the survey, having volunteered their services without cost.

The survey will show to taxpayers of Fulton county and Atlanta where a virtually every cent of tax receipts goes, and will provide the Taxpayers' League with a concrete basis on which to work out plans for a revision of taxation on a more economical scale of operation of both governments, it was said.

The findings, Mr. Mizell announced Tuesday, will be published by the Taxpayers' League from time to time, the public being kept fully informed as to the progress of the survey.

BATTLING WOMEN FAIL TO PROTECT RAIDERS' QUARRY

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(AP)—George Gaustello, 22, was under arrest today—in spite of six women defenders who gave three deputy United States marshals a few exciting moments of free-for-all fighting when the agents entered Gaustello's home.

He had been sought for some time on a liquor transport charge and when the deputies—Frank Lower, Robert Jackson and Herbert Patterson—went to his residence on a tip a pretty young woman asked who they were. On being told, she slammed the door in their faces. The door was promptly battered in and the free-for-all started as the deputies advanced was contested by a number of women who hit, scratched and pulled hair as the officers attempted to search the house. The agents finally broke away and captured Gaustello as he was climbing out a window.

FEARING ARREST, WOMAN HIDES SELF IN COTTON PILE

MARSHALL, Ark., July 12.—(AP)—Miss Nina Winstate, 44, who gave Oklahoma City as her home, was held for investigation today after spending two nights buried in a cotton bin on a farm near here.

She was found by officers yesterday. Her entire body, with the exception of her face, was buried in cotton.

Hidden near the bin, a package of papers, including deeds to Oklahoma property, bonds of various kinds, postal savings certificates and a bill of sale for an automobile, was found.

Officers began search for her when persons living near by reported an automobile had been parked near a farm house Saturday and no one had been near it since.

The woman told officers she went to the cotton bin immediately after leaving the car and buried herself in the cotton. No reason was given for the act, but physicians who examined her said she suffered from a hallucination that she was being pursued by officers who accused her of being involved in a fatal automobile accident.

VETERANS SPEND NIGHT ON CAPITOL LAWNS

California Contingent Determined To Impress Congress With Need.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Four hundred and fifty California bonus seekers gathered at the capitol tonight with the avowed determination to march about the grounds until morning. They had been prohibited from sleeping on the lawn, but after the order was withdrawn, they were to convince congress.

It was their purpose to impress upon congress the necessity for immediate payment of the bonus to needy veterans.

Roy W. Robertson, leader of the group, told the men it was necessary for them to bestir themselves vigorously if they were to convince congress. "We didn't come here to eat soup and sleep in the jungle over at Anacostia," he said. "We came here to get our bonus."

A little earlier they had presented to the vice president and Speaker Garner petitions asking for immediate payment of the bonus to those veterans who were certified to be in need.

Several members of congress addressed them from the capitol steps and Representative Patman, democrat, Texas, promised to introduce a bill tomorrow calling for payment of the bonus to the needy. He conceded, however, that there was no hope of obtaining full payment at this time for all veterans.

A statement denying that the cost of veterans' activities reaches $1,000,000 annually was made today by John Thomas Taylor, legislative representative from the Legion.

The total to be spent for veterans during 1933 was estimated at $925,387,785. Taylor said only $356,227,000 would go direct to World War veterans, the remainder being for Civil and Spanish War ex-service men and for soldiers and sailors of the regular military establishment.

Of the amount going to World War veterans, Taylor said $104,277,000 would be spent for non-service connected disability allowances, which he said were not sponsored by the American Legion but by the Hoover administration.

America is counting cylinders and AMERICA PREFERS THE SIX

Since January 1st, buyers have chosen more Chevrolet Sixes than the combined total of all fours and all eights priced below $1000

CHEVROLET SIX CYLINDERS NO MORE — NO LESS

For GREATEST ECONOMY and BUILT-IN SMOOTHNESS

With more than six cylinders you sacrifice economy—With less than six cylinders you sacrifice smoothness.

When buying a low-priced car, do as America is doing: Count cylinders! And you'll say, as America is saying: "SIX! No more. No less!" America counted cylinders and came to this conclusion: six is the ideal number for a car of lowest price! No more, because an engine with extra cylinders is bound to cost more for gas, oil and upkeep.

Everybody knows that. No less, because six is the smallest number of cylinders you can have in a car and avoid the undesirable effects of inherent vibration.

A six, as Chevrolet builds it, is the happy medium between two extremes. It gives unexcelled economy. No other motor car engine in America today costs so little for gas, oil and upkeep. It gives you built-in smoothness. From 6 miles an hour to 65 or 70, Chevrolet is quietly, comfortably, enjoyably smooth.

And because of this smoothness—plus the fact that the whole car is so solidly, ruggedly built—Chevrolet is a low-priced automobile that really stands up. It's a good, reliable, economical car the day you buy it . . . and it keeps on being good, reliable, economical, after 5,000—10,000—15,000 miles of driving. Hundreds of thousands of owners have proved that!

In addition, Chevrolet is a modern car, with Free Wheeling, Syncro-Mesh gear-shifting, Fisher bodies of wood and steel, four parallel-mounted springs—and many other features, without which no 1932 car can possibly be called complete. Be cylinder-wise! Follow America's lead and make your next low-priced car a six—a Chevrolet Six! Unless you do, you can't expect the smoothness, economy, and lasting satisfaction to which your money rightfully entitles you.

QUITS GRIEF SCENE

Local Norfolk &amp; Western train car.

Her face hidden by a fox fur neckpiece, Miss Holman talked hysterically between sobs, but her words for the most part were indistinguishable.

"This is awful," she sobbed.

"O, those faces," she sobbed.

Such expressions came from the group of three women as mother and sister with arms wrapped about the singer assisted her to enter the train.

Some of them seemed to come from Libby, but it was not possible for the onlooker to determine positively which one of the trio uttered them.

"Be brave, darling," the silver-haired mother urged her daughter more than once.

Holman, grim of face but composed, was attending to the buying of tickets and the checking of baggage. This last task finished, she walked quietly through a group of reporters and others surrounding the car, without being recognized.

Earlier in the day she said Libby would be taken to some quiet place in the country or mountains to recuperate from her ordeal of sudden widowhood, climaxed by two grueling examinations before the coroner's jury.

At that time, she said the possibility of Libby's return to the stage had not been discussed, because she had been virtually unable to talk coherently since Smith dropped on a sleeping porch, dying with a pistol bullet through his brain. The death was originally pronounced suicide by Coroner W. N. Dalton, but Sheriff Scott refused to accept the decision, with the result that a formal inquest was ordered Friday. It held two secret sessions, at the first of which Miss Holman testified, and one session open to the press, at which she was re-examined.

Thinks It Suicide.

"I know it was suicide," Holman declared today with vigor, adding that he meant he was as certain of it as he could be of anything he had not actually witnessed.

He referred to the "horrible suspicion" raised by the inquest proceedings, asserting Libby's every instinct was to "protect," that she was "the tenderest girl in the world," and positively could do no harm to anything.

Miss Blanche Yurka, actress of New York, who was a house guest of the Reynolds, and attended the party Tuesday night, was ordered by the coroner's jury to hold herself at its call, but she was not re-examined at the open session.

On the same train went C. Raymond Kramer, of Flushing, L. I., who came south a little more than a month ago.

Two Puzzling Clues Discovered
In Probe of Reynolds Mystery

BY MORRIS DEHAVEN TRACY.

(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 12. (UP)—Two unexplained clues to a solution of one of the strangest "real-life" mysteries in the history of crime tonight were in the hands of the authorities investigating the death of Smith Reynolds, heir to the immense tobacco fortune.

The first was testimony that a "strange" automobile was in the neighborhood of the Reynolds estate on the night of the shooting.

The second was a clue that those bloody fingerprints which were not blurred for identification corresponded to no fingerprint of any person known to have been a member of the Reynolds household.

The grand jury met in regular session here today, but there was no indication that body had taken cognizance of the case.

Attorneys explained that in view of the findings of the coroner's jury, the next step was up to the grand jury. It can ask for a transcript of the several hundred pages of testimony taken by the coroner, conduct an independent investigation by calling witnesses to take the stand, or present upon facts already available to it, the effect of which would be to carry action over until the grand jury meets.

Efforts to get in touch with Ab Walker at his home today were futile. Telephone calls brought the information he had just gone to the hospital.

Inscription in Bible.

Authorities disclosed they were investigating an inscription in a family Bible attributed to Smith in the testimony of Libby and Walker.

Zachary Smith Reynolds, born November 5, 1911, died shortly thereafter of old age, was the reading of the inscription. This recalled the fact that Smith had often declared he was born old, as his father was 70 years old at his birth.

It was attested by the two witnesses apparently in substantiation of the other testimony by the two that the young tobacco heir had frequently threatened to take his own life.

Officers said today they expect to have experts examine the handwriting to determine if possible whether Smith himself wrote the inscription.

Testimony from Walker and a nurse who attended him at the hospital where Smith died that Libby said she expected to become a mother revived discussion of the eventual disposition of young Reynolds' fortune, estimated at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Under the will of Reynolds Mr. Smith would not have come into possession of his estate until he was 28, which would have been eight years hence.

Widow Excluded.

The Safe Deposit Trust Company of Baltimore, trustee of the estate, was reported in dispatches as having announced that under the will Reynolds' will, the Broadway dancer would not inherit one penny of her husband's share of the tobacco millions.

The same statement said the two-year-old daughter of Anne Cannon and Reynolds by his first marriage would be heiress to the estate.

But it was said, unofficially, by legal authorities that any child born to Libby Holman, within the next nine months probably would be on an equal basis with Anne Cannon's baby girl when it came to division of the property.

Anne Cannon, now Mrs. F. Brandon Smith, of Charlotte, and, her son, the child, were the only children of Libby Holman, within the next nine months probably would be on an equal basis with Anne Cannon's baby girl when it came to division of the property.

Questioned specifically with regard to the possibility of an action to contest the divorce settlement and seek a share of the tobacco wealth for her child, the first wife was reported to have said:

"I am not making any statement now."

Libby Not Sure.

Officials revealed today that Libby was questioning upon her appearance at the secret inquest session upon the prospects of her motherhood.

She said she was not sure. Assistant Solicitor J. Eric McMichael related, "But there was at least one indication of approaching motherhood."

McMichael said so far as he was informed the Reynolds family physician, who attended the young widow after the shooting, had not been told of Libby's belief regarding her condition.

Reynolds, the suburban home built by the tobacco magnate shortly before his death in 1918, was deserted tonight.

Save for Libby and her family, and a few servants, it was deserted last night.

Mrs. Charles Babcock and Mrs. Henry Walker Bagley, sisters of Smith Reynolds, and their husband, all of New York, who came here after the youth was shot, left for New York today. They quitted Reynolds yesterday, spending the night in the city.

SENATE PASSES NEW RELIEF BILL IN SHORT ORDER

cultural purposes. The vote on this was 45 to 17.

Despite these changes, the new measure's general outline was the same as the relief bill, minus only the section authorizing loans by the Reconstruction Corporation to individuals.

President Hoover's chief reason for dropping the $300,000,000 fund for emergency relief loans to states was left intact, as was the $322,000,000 for public works and the authority for increasing the Reconstruction Corporation's borrowing power by $1,500,000,000 and enlarging the scope of its loans to take in reproductive construction.

The house bill, reported out by the ways and means committee, carried all these provisions but did not include the federal reserve bank loans to individuals provision of the senate, nor the reorganization of the reconstruction unit.

COMMUNIST MEETINGS BANNED IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—(AP)—Public gatherings of communists in St. Louis under police ban today following rioting at the city hall yesterday, in which four men were wounded by bullets fired by police and more than a score injured by clubs, bricks and other missiles that were hurled through the air.

The disturbance started after a crowd of approximately 3,000 unemployed persons attempted to storm the city hall to demand relief.

room, and in the bathroom do not correspond with the fingerprints of Miss Holman or any of her known companions.

A further problem was offered in the fact that a bullet hole has been discovered in a screen on the porch adjoining the bed chamber of Miss Holman, not easily in range of the supposed position of young Reynolds as described during the inquest.

The alleged fact that the gun was not found for four hours after the shooting was particularly puzzling.

One source said that the inquest showed it was found immediately in front of the door of the room and should have been discovered easily in a previous search of the room allegedly made by a member of the Reynolds household.

There are two possible explanations. One is that the searchers failed to see the gun. The other is more sinister—ly made at the time the search was made.

The gun, a .32-caliber Mauser, yielded no fingerprints when it was examined by officers.

the British public be fully informed of what took place at Lausanne. He wanted to know whether the "gentlemen's agreement" was a clear-cut link between the reparations settlement and adjustment of the American debt.

He asked whether the Lausanne document would be null and void if the United States refused to revise.

Responding to this speech, Mr. Chamberlain brought cheers from the house by restating the British policy thus:

"If all-round cancellation can be achieved, we shall cancel. If cancellation is not possible we must wait to see what America may propose to us before we can cancel the debts of our European allies."

This seemed to leave the situation just about where it was placed 10 years ago in the famous note, which formulated the policy of making England's income on the score of the war equal to her outgo in war debt payments.

In his report to the house, Mr. MacDonald answered Mr. Churchill's charge that the "gentlemen's agreement" was semi-secret in character.

"Mr. Churchill's innocence always surprises me," the prime minister said.

"He goes through life either as a rampaging individual who knows everything, or as a sucking dove, but whether roaring or cooing his innocence always strikes me."

It was attested by the two witnesses apparently in substantiation of the other testimony by the two that the young tobacco heir had frequently threatened to take his own life.

Officials revealed today that Libby was questioning upon her appearance at the secret inquest session upon the prospects of her motherhood.

She said she was not sure. Assistant Solicitor J. Eric McMichael related, "But there was at least one indication of approaching motherhood."

McMichael said so far as he was informed the Reynolds family physician, who attended the young widow after the shooting, had not been told of Libby's belief regarding her condition.

Reynolds, the suburban home built by the tobacco magnate shortly before his death in 1918, was deserted tonight.

Save for Libby and her family, and a few servants, it was deserted last night.

Mrs. Charles Babcock and Mrs. Henry Walker Bagley, sisters of Smith Reynolds, and their husband, all of New York, who came here after the youth was shot, left for New York today. They quitted Reynolds yesterday, spending the night in the city.

cultural purposes. The vote on this was 45 to 17.

Despite these changes, the new measure's general outline was the same as the relief bill, minus only the section authorizing loans by the Reconstruction Corporation to individuals.

President Hoover's chief reason for dropping the $300,000,000 fund for emergency relief loans to states was left intact, as was the $322,000,000 for public works and the authority for increasing the Reconstruction Corporation's borrowing power by $1,500,000,000 and enlarging the scope of its loans to take in reproductive construction.

The house bill, reported out by the ways and means committee, carried all these provisions but did not include the federal reserve bank loans to individuals provision of the senate, nor the reorganization of the reconstruction unit.

COMMUNIST MEETINGS BANNED IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—(AP)—Public gatherings of communists in St. Louis under police ban today following rioting at the city hall yesterday, in which four men were wounded by bullets fired by police and more than a score injured by clubs, bricks and other missiles that were hurled through the air.

The disturbance started after a crowd of approximately 3,000 unemployed persons attempted to storm the city hall to demand relief.

western wind all day," he added.

In a locker at his feet was a stack of water power data left with him by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York power authority. Last night, Mr. Roosevelt said he had not looked at the papers.

The day before the Smith sailed, President Hoover turned down his presidential rival's suggestion for a conference to adjust state and federal government differences over electric power development of the Saint Lawrence river. Roosevelt has not replied to the Hoover declaration.

The governor slept late this morning, but he was home at 10 o'clock, away laid at anchor off the New Haven Yacht Club. She did not get under way until after 10 o'clock.

The waters of the sound, so turbulent yesterday, were calm today. With all its canvas spread and "Skipper" Roosevelt at the wheel, the little boat slid steadily along, the Connecticut shore before an eight-mile wind that off Bartlett lightship increased to 14 miles an hour.

Occasional sail boats, attracted by the procession of three boats in the governor's party, skirted near the Myth. A few motor boats dashed out from shore to wave to the New Yorkers.

For a short time today, George Briggs relieved Mr. Roosevelt at the wheel. The governor was back at his post when the Myth moved from the island at the tip of Long Island and pointed her prow toward the narrow neck of water between Fishers island and the mainland on which stands Stonington.

The crew of the Myth was increased to six today. Bobby Delano, cousin of the governor, boarded the boat last night. He will complete the trip. Young Delano is about the age of Mr. Roosevelt's third son, Franklin, a senior at Groton school. The family name of the governor's mother was Delano, the family members of whom were well known sea traders.

MAJ. GERS' ATTENTION

CENTERED ON FUNDS

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—The need of raising at least $10,000,000 to conduct the Hoover-Roosevelt battle for the presidency is focusing attention of campaign directors on the economy of the contest.

In 1928 the two parties spent a total of $18,500,000. This time both sides plan considerably smaller war chests.

The rival chieftains, National Chairman James A. Farley and Everett Sanders, have declared for economical campaigns. Their next problem is to start the contributions rolling in.

Though all democratic plans are being held in abeyance until Governor Roosevelt completes his sea cruise, the necessity of raising millions is beginning to occupy the minds of his organization.

The election is still more than three months away, but two big guns have boomed already.

Roosevelt's unprecedented acceptance speech from the convention platform was the battle call for the democrats.

Secretary Mills' address in Boston last night was the opening blast of the campaign. It stirred activity in opposing camp and led to a general prediction that the treasury chief will be the key man in the republican battle-dre, occupying the position Senator Borah held in 1928.

Mills often has been the Hoover administration spokesman. He made a fiery speech at the Chicago convention championing the majority, prohibition plank and he was largely credited with the success of that fight.

His Boston speech lashing out at Roosevelt as a man without an economic plan was interpreted as an indication of what the republican campaign strategy will be.

As Farley delayed joining the Roosevelt sea cruise for another day, while he held a series of highly secret conferences in New York, it was learned a tentative democratic organization scheme already has been drawn up. It will be entirely up to Roosevelt as soon as his vacation jaunt ends.

No detail of this plan has been announced because it is likely to undergo considerable change before the governor approves it. Those closely associated with the campaign emphasize that he has some positive ideas about how the campaign should be organized and will want to have a voice in outlining the procedure to be followed.

Farley has said, however, that state committees will play a bigger part than ever in the campaign, while the national organization will do as little supervising as possible.

From Sanders came word that the brunt of the republican campaign will be borne by the national committee, leaving President Hoover freed of all details save those of the few advisers he will make. A executive committee of 15 members was named to aid Sanders and the national committee.

There were reports the Roosevelt managers contemplated eliminating the position held by J. P. Shouse for more than three years, that of chairman of the executive committee of the national democratic organization.

"I am not prepared to say whether there will be such a job," declared Louis Howe, the governor's confidential secretary, who played a big part in the pre-convention campaign.

It was pointed out there had not been a change in the republican organization until it was created for Shouse.

Shouse himself was in the city. He had lunch with Mayor Edward Hague, of Jersey City, and called on Alfred E. Smith.

Hague, who was Smith's floor manager at Chicago, told a democratic meeting in his own state last night that no man had worked harder for Smith than he had, and added:

"I will work just as hard for Roosevelt and Garner."

Smith spent a few hours in the city on business and then returned to Long Island to continue his "vacation from politics."

He did not even look at what his office associates described as "the biggest mail he has received in five years."

In connection with the democratic drive, it was reported that a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C." 10c and 25c packages, and "then you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes," R. C. will give you relief in three minutes.

"B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuritis, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs.

financing plans, it was recalled that John J. Raskob, in launching the "victory fund drive" as national chairman, estimated the 1932 campaign would cost $8,000,000, a million dollars less than was spent in 1928.

Roosevelt managers, however, are not contemplating the expenditure of even that much, they said today. No definite sum will be set until the organization plans have been approved.

The "victory" campaign has as its goal the collection of $1,500,000—$400,000 to wipe out the debt incurred four years ago, $800,000 to pay for the work done since then, and $300,000 to make a "flying start" this fall.

So far about $722,000 has been raised, including Raskob's cancellation of one $100,000 obligation to him.

THREE WEEKS' VACATION PLANNED BY GARNER

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—For three weeks Speaker John Garner, democratic vice presidential nominee, is going to substitute fishing for public affairs when he returns to his Texas home after congress adjourns.

Garner says he is going to "get some rest and rest I am going to get."

The speaker is very tired. He wants to recuperate for three weeks or so before taking up campaign activities.

NO ROOSEVELT OBLIGATION FELT BY MRS. LOWMEDES

BALTIMORE, July 12.—(AP)—Mrs. William Bladen Lowmedes, member of the executive committee of the Maryland Association for National Prohibition Reform and a former republican national committeewoman, said today she feels that she is under no obligation to work for the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt because the association has gone on record urging its members to vote for him.

ROBINSON ACCEPTS CHALLENGE BY MILLS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—In a democratic answer to the speech of Secretary Mills opening the republican presidential campaign, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, said today evidence that party wishes to present the qualifications of President Hoover as an issue—an issue which "the democrats gladly will accept."

In a statement issued through the democratic national committee, Robinson, leader of his party in the senate and vice presidential candidate in 1928, said:

"Judging by the address of Secretary Mills, the issue which the republicans wish to carry to the people in November is whether any man has the qualifications for the task equal to the qualifications of President Hoover."

"That is an issue which the democrats gladly will accept with no doubt as to the outcome."

NEW JERSEY G. O. P. BODY URGES QUICK MODIFICATION TRENTON, N. J., July 12.—(AP)—The republican state committee has passed a resolution urging the president and congress to co-operate for immediate modification of the Volstead act.

Meeting last night, the committee reaffirmed its support of the Hoover-Curtis ticket. It interpreted the party's national declaration on prohibition as confirming the state convention plank advocating repeal.

On these subjects he said:

"I yield to none in my support of our educational institutions and our highway program. When the proposed highway bond issue came up for consideration in 1928, I did not content myself with opposing bonds without offering anything as a substitute therefore. In an article published in the Atlanta Journal on August 1, 1928, I advocated the increase of tax on gasoline from 4 cents to 6 cents. I was impelled to make this suggestion because a thorough investigation had convinced me that an increase in

"In addition to the income of the highway department being increased, I addressed a committee of the general assembly, by invitation, in which I urged that a part of this increased revenue be allocated to the common schools.

"This was done thereby increasing the income to our common schools system more than a million dollars per year. This alone has enabled many schools to operate that otherwise would have had to close. Certainly, therefore, I may be pardoned when I state that I have been a friend and champion of our common school system and of our highway progress."

OUR FAR EAST POLICY.

The far eastern policy of the United States government, according to Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the far eastern division of the department of state, is to maintain "an attitude of impartiality as between the disputant countries and to act in co-operation or concert with other powers concerned."

This country would have been in a much better position now had its diplomacy followed this line of action during the recent Sino-Japanese clashes in Manchuria and at Shanghai. Instead our state department busied itself in sending protests, notes, warning and diplomatic communications of all kinds, addressed to the Japanese government. Far from acting in concert with the other great powers having interests in the far east, the United States sent many of its notes after Great Britain and France had flatly refused to concur in them.

As a result of this meddling in a situation that was none of our business we have incurred the thinly concealed animosity of the Japanese government.

Six months of bungling statesmanship has broken the bond of friendship so carefully and painstakingly built up—while Great Britain by reserving its protests until its interests had actually been endangered, which they never were, has strengthened its already leading position in the orient.

According to Mr. Hornbeck the fact that the powers participating in the Washington conference, of which Japan was one, all have interests in China suggests a policy for this country "based firmly on the principle of respect for and solicitude in regard to the fundamental rights and interests of all the political and economic development of the far east."

It is a pity that we did not follow this policy in our attitude towards Japan when she was conducting what she believed to be, whether right or wrong, a campaign vitally affecting her national welfare. Had we done so there can be no doubt that the enunciation by a semi-official spokesman for the Japanese government of a "Monroe policy for the far east" would never have been uttered.

OPTIMISTIC REALTORS.

Ward Wight and W. Arthur Stokes, Atlanta delegates to the recent national convention of the real estate boards of America, bring back the encouraging message delivered at the convention by Leonard P. Reame, former president of the association, that "so far as I am concerned the depression ended 30 days ago."

This outstanding realtor firmly believes that the country is now well launched in the "post-depression" stage and that unmistakable signs give reassurance that real estate activity is already on the road to more normal proportions and that with this increase in trading will come a bolstering of prices from their present record low levels.

The Atlanta delegates report that the convention was imbued with an optimistic spirit featured by the feeling that the next five years will be a modernization period in which millions of American homes will be remodeled to include up-to-date conveniences and to conform to prevailing architectural styles. It is also felt that this modernization drift will extend to private offices which, as is generally the case now, will be transformed from rooms with four bare walls and a few pieces of furniture into attractively decorated, comfortable quarters comparable to the home surroundings of those who use and visit the offices.

The optimistic confidence expressed by the realtors of the nation emphasizes real estate as an investment. Not for many decades has property of all kinds—commercial, residential and suburban—been procurable at such low prices. Every class of property can be

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Looks Like War.

When the Japanese troops began to leave Shanghai, they were not demobilized, but told to remain in readiness for events to come. This could mean but one thing—more trouble in Manchuria—and so it has turned out to be. At the moment of writing, Japanese divisions are marching towards the Soviet border.

What are Japan's aims? First of all, to establish a strong government in the new Manchurian republic and to make this country a buffer state between Russia and herself. Moscow fears, however, that the Japanese will attempt to kill two birds with one stone, as it were, and extend Japanese domination into Siberia for as far as the Baikal lake, it is rumored.

Japanese military movements indeed seem to indicate that this is the objective. The Japanese want to drive a wedge between China and Russia. This is not going to be an easy job. The whole of the orient will be aroused. Nobody can foretell what the outcome of such a struggle, the beginning of which we witness today, will be. It is my feeling that China and Russia will combine forces against Tokyo. The Japanese are not without their stakes. Like Prussia in 1914, it is a case of world power or annihilation. Nothing less!

Red Army.

Let there be no mistake about the Red army. Some observers seem inclined to think that a declaration of war on the part of Japan or an actual invasion without a declaration of war will produce chaos or universal disruption in the Soviet Union. Nothing is further from the truth. It has always been the same. A nation that sees its territory invaded develops an entirely different spirit. It rallies around its leaders and around its army. This is the case at present in Russia.

When the Red army is in the field it is amazingly determined at the same time to resist to the bitter end. Invasions of Russian territory have always ended in disaster to the invaders. The Red army is a well-trained, well-equipped, and well-disciplined force. It is a force that is not to be underestimated.

The report suggests cotton tarpaulins for use in protecting farm machinery as a volume market for cotton. Millions of pieces of expensive farm machinery are now standing unprotected on the farms of the United States and it is hoped that through the development of a cheap but effective cotton tarpaulin farmers in every section of the country will be glad to take advantage of the opportunity to give protection to their machinery impossible heretofore because of the high cost of other types of tarpaulin.

The federal department of commerce believes that there is an unusual opportunity for a large increase of cotton manufacture of this products because "with conditions and prices forcing economies in every direction, there is a new urge for conserving the service life of farm equipment." This prediction is backed up by investigations made by extension divisions of agricultural colleges in the middle west.

The Cotton Textile Institute is also conducting extensive experiments to determine the practicality of using cotton in connection with asphalt for paving blocks. So successful have these experiments been in establishing that cotton fibers, used as binders, add strength to the blocks that it is predicted this use, together with the proven practicality of asphalted cotton cloth as road surfacing, "point to a promising possibility of cotton playing an important part in highway construction of the future."

New golf tees are now being made of cotton, cotton hats for men are popular in many sections, and reports from all over the country show a record increase in the wearing of cotton suits by men and of cotton dresses for occasions of all sorts by women.

In the development of such new uses for cotton and the planting of the finer grades that cannot be grown in other sections of the world lies the salvation of the southern planter. Production in Russia, Asia and Egypt is increasing by leaps and bounds and it is certain that the demand for American cotton in foreign markets, with the exception of the finest grade staples, will grow less as the years go by.

Our planters will have nothing to fear from this lessening of the foreign demand, if the efforts to find new uses for the staple continue, and if they plant only the best grades on a considerably reduced acreage.

The cost of living has decreased considerably during recent months, but it still costs more than it's worth.

The Prettiest Pebbles in a Hateful Thing

By Robert Quillen

Say what you will concerning quality, the fact remains that the people of America are divided into classes. And there is little hope for happiness in marriage except for those who choose mates from their own class.

This does not mean that mates will be unhappy if one is richer than the other, or better educated or wiser. The distinction that matters is more fundamental than that.

It is a difference of souls—a gulf so wide and deep that no common ideal can be found to bridge it.

Few women marry "beneath themselves." Those who are fine enough to score vulgarly are quick to discern and repel it, and social custom protects them from intimate contact with men of a lower class.

A few are tricked, of course, for vile men who make money and put on a veneer of respectability find it does not close against them. A woman of delicate sensibilities and gentle instincts surrenders to one of these, she has no alternative except divorce or madness. Sanitariums are filled with her kind, defiled and broken by shame and vulgar violence that killed their love and filled them with hatred and loathing.

Men with high ideals and decent instincts are more frequently fooled. They break through social barriers to go down as well as up. And their comparative innocence of guile coupled with their natural tendency to judge a woman by her appearance alone makes them easy prey for any "good looking" who has the wit to talk little and conceal her tastes and opinions.

To say that the man has only himself to blame is manifestly unfair. That could be said of any victim. He is tricked by his imagination and the woman is careful not to deceive him.

When his eyes are opened and his soul is sickened by the vulgarity of his mate, there is little hope for him. Shame seals his lips. His code demands he play the game.

Perhaps he suffers less than the tricked woman, but his life is wrecked none the less.

Man or woman, there is nothing but "grief and baleful discontent" with a mate unworthy of respect. And no edict of church or state can make dirt seem respectable to the clean.

TALMADGE ATTACKS FEDERAL FARM BOARD

TIFTON, Ga., July 12.—(Special.) At Tifton today Eugene Talmadge charged that the federal farm board was a millstone around the neck of the southern farmer. He developed the charge that in the last legislature the farm board, together with the "co-ops," had undertaken a campaign of slander against him in order to impeach him by the legislature.

The crowd, estimated at about 1,000, gathered in Fulton park. Representative Open Senatorial Campaign With Vigorous Radio Speech.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW. Many times when intelligent people deliberately exposed their children to mumps, measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever or chicken pox, they believed that every one must have these diseases sooner or later and so it was better to have them in childhood and get it over with.

Today this is regarded as a crime, even in backward communities. Now, and then a child dies of one of these so-called diseases of childhood. Sensible folk know, too, that no such illness is "good" for a child, and accordingly the modern practice is to try to protect children from contracting these diseases, and in an encouraging number of cases children are growing up without suffering from such diseases. Physicians and health authorities nowadays do not refer to these diseases as "diseases of childhood." Childhood is getting a better deal.

Superstitions which were all very well for medical profession and laity 100 years ago are absurd today. Before we knew anything about the cause of diphtheria, pneumonia, tuberculosis, cerebro-spinal meningitis, measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, and other respiratory infections, the theory of exposure to cold and wet had the virtue of a necessity. The doctor had to come to his feet with some sort of explanation of the illness, and what could be more suitable than that?

Everybody had to be more or less a politician in those days, and the occasional wetting of the feet, dampness, raw winds or other discomforts. Hence it was always plausible enough to be come down "under the weather."

The cold superstition is by no means discarded by the medical profession as a whole, but it is fading. The dumb public is beginning to suspect that the eminent medical man's early bulletins in the case of the prominent politician are dishonest, and the eminent medical man makes extremely bad guesses.

Occasionally some health officer or physician makes a statement of exposure to cold or wet somehow "lowers resistance," whatever that may mean, and advises that plenty of good wholesome food, rest, sunshine, fresh water and pure air will keep up your resistance. But there is no scientific ground for this. It is just an old Yankee notion. Apart from immunity, which is specific and has no known bearing on exposure to cold or wet, nobody knows a thing about "resistance"; nobody knows how to increase it, and it simply doesn't exist. If you or I happen to have any immunity against any one of the respiratory infections, there should be no satisfaction and comfort in the knowledge, the certainty, that no amount of exposure to cold or wet or other discomforts can rob us of it. We have this immunity, and we have scientific experiments but also from all human experience, I believe.

It will be long enough until all the world recognize the fact that the worst, frostbite, is the only harm anybody can suffer from exposure to cold and wet, and anticipate the fact that the public enlightenment of the old timers in the profession had better prepare to adapt their theories and teachings to the higher order of intelligence that the public laugh at their quaint ideas.

Salient Points In Crisp Speech

has succeeded in filling the capitol with his political friends and has built up the most powerful and far-reaching personal political machine that this state has ever known.

The attorney-general, selected by the people, formerly drew a salary of $5,000 annually, but one assistant, appointed by himself, at a salary of $2,500. The reorganization bill increases the salary of the attorney-general to $5,500, of the then assistant attorney-general to $5,000 and provides for five additional assistants at a salary of $3,000 each, to be appointed by the governor.

The governor seems to have acquired a undue interest in the wishes of the farmers of Georgia—a position utterly contrary to that assumed by him in 1931.

The day of reckoning is coming. It is possible that the governor will be forced to go for cover before the storm breaks.

Georgia has incurred no expenses on account of pensions and compensation of World War veterans, nor any expenses in connection with the war debt, and neither does she have to maintain a standing army for national defense. But her expenditures have multiplied four-fold in 13 years.

Never before in the history of our country has it been so imperative that the people become interested in government and exercise their right of franchise.

This is no time to elect any man to office for his personal ambition. Offices are created that service may be rendered.

May I ask you to cast your vote for the one of us whom you would select to represent you individually if you had a private vote? I am not a member of the federal government in Washington?

Governor Russell was chairman of the Georgia delegation to the national convention, and since his return has enthusiastically endorsed all that was said and done at that convention; yet, in his speeches, he is undertaking to deceive the people into believing that I have been solely responsible for everything that has taken place in the national government during the last 20 years.

In 1931 the federal government collected in direct taxes from the state of Georgia less than $6,000,000 and expended in the state over $45,000,000.

I actively supported the farm board act. In my judgment, it has resulted in injury rather than benefit to the farmer, and I am advocating its repeal.

In this day of acute unemployment, I think that unemployment should be stopped so that available jobs may go to our own people.

I submit that the people of Georgia should demand that Governor Russell state open and above his head exactly his position on this question (payment of the bonus) really is.

I think buses and trucks operated for hire should be properly taxed for the use of the highways.

If you want a demagogue in the senate I am not that man. If you want a man in the senate whose only object is to build up his own political fortunes, I am not that man.

Mr. Russell predicted that the people of Georgia would wake up on January 1, next, and find a deficit of approximately $7,000,000. Suggesting that Governor Russell would like to be out of the state when these woful fiscal facts are revealed, Congressman Crisp said:

"The day of reckoning is coming. It is possible that the governor is desiring to run to cover before the storm breaks." Is this the reason he is abandoning the governorship after one year's service, with his promises to the people of Georgia still unfulfilled? I imagine that every man in Georgia would be delighted if he could balance his own budget on the same basis the governor has balanced the budget of the state of Georgia by simply paying out what could be collected and borrowed, and letting the creditors call the bag.

Mr. Crisp, after noticing that in 1931 Georgia's total expenditures were only $3,316,825.05, in 1932 amounted to $13,501,122 and in 1933, under Governor Russell, had reached the staggering total of $30,397,416.08, told the governor's record as a demagogue.

"Where Was Russell in 1928?" It is easy and popular this year to claim to be a demagogue, but that is not the point. The point is that in 1928, when the people of Georgia were in a state of economic depression, Governor Russell, then only the true and the faithful rallied to the cause. I did my part in that campaign and accepted the nomination given me by the leaders of democracy. That was a time when it meant something more than merely to boast of being a demagogue.

"In that hour of trial for democracy, where was Governor Russell, who claims leadership of the democratic political machine in Georgia?" asked Congressman Crisp, and added:

"No one recalls hearing Governor Russell's clarion voice then, and no one is seeing him now exhibiting in his own personal behalf."

"If he made a single speech for the democratic ticket in 1928, he would not be good enough to form the people of Georgia just when and where he made the same."

Appointment of Harris' Successor.—After paying a tribute to his long friend, the late Senator William J. Harris, Congressman Crisp expressed his deep skepticism of the sincerity of the praise bestowed on the late senator by Governor Russell, "who speaks feelingly of the love of the people of Georgia for his illustrious friend, Honorable William J. Harris, but does not say that he ever did anything to promote the political interests of that distinguished Georgian while he lived."

Congressman Crisp then charged that Governor Russell made the appointment of Senator Harris' successor as part of a plan to build up his own political fences.

"Governor Russell," said Mr. Crisp, "does not state that he failed to order the appointment to the widow of Senator Harris, because it was necessary to use that appointment to advance

Gubernatorial Opponents Active Throughout State

Holder Raps Talmadge.

Five of the ten candidates for governor of Georgia were waging their battle for ballots in September on as many different fronts Tuesday, while a sixth, John N. Holder, was taking sharp exception in Atlanta to statements made by Eugene Talmadge concerning Holder's alleged connection with the state highway board.

Speaking at Tifton to a crowd that overflowed the courthouse and caused the meeting to be moved to the city park, Talmadge renewed his attack on the federal farm board and again declared that anybody who wants favors from the highway department must go to John N. Holder first.

Holder, in his Atlanta statement, said:

"Since Eugene Talmadge, the village gossip, and other candidates are having much to say to the effect that I am running in some sort of collusion with the highway department, I want to say to the people of Georgia—once and for all—that I am running against all nine of the candidates and I am going to beat them all."

Referring to Talmadge's charge, quoting John E. Whitley, LeGrange contractor, as saying that the approach to the highway board was through Holder's room at the Henry Grady hotel, Holder said:

"Neither Talmadge nor Whitley nor any other person has any facts to back up such an absurd and ridiculous statement. My good name means as much to me as the good name of Georgia and I do not believe the people will approve any such trading methods in any of the races. Were I to prepare a statement for the newspapers, I would say that Eugene Talmadge, the newspapers would not print it."

Nix was speaking at Cartersville, John I. Kelley at Thomasville, H. O. Kelley at Milledgeville and H. B. Edwards at Savannah. Edwards is to speak at Baxter today, at Twin Lakes, near Valdosta, Thursday, with Governor Russell and Senator John S. Cotton at Homerville, Friday, at Blackshear and Waycross Saturday.

Nix, at Cartersville, said that payment to the common school was the primary importance in the fulfillment of the state's first duty, the education of its youth.

At Thomasville, he defended the 6-cent per gallon tax on gasoline and promised to give support to both the highway and educational departments.

European 'Shoe King' Dies in Plane Crash

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 12.—(AP)—Thomas Bat'a, Czechoslovakian "shoe king" and veteran aviation enthusiast, and known as the Henry Ford of Czechoslovakia, was killed today when his private plane crashed over his own flying field at Otrokowitz.

LYNN, Mass., July 12.—(AP)—The people of Lynn have for many years considered with mingled emotions the spectacular rise of Thomas Bat'a, Czechoslovakian shoe king, who was killed today in an airplane accident in his native land.

He became a competitor in their hereditary industry—the manufacture of shoes—a dangerous and stout industrial antagonist, and he met them in the commercial lists with their own weapons, weapons he acquired and learned here in Lynn, where shoe

ANGELUS TEMPLE PROBE IS HINTED

Misuse of Supplies Is Charged in Los Angeles Newspaper Article.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 12.—(AP)—The Examiner, in a copyrighted story, tonight said that "warring charges of petty graft and charity racketeering in Alameda Temple, Micherson-Hutton's Angelus Temple will be presented to the city social service commission at the city hall tomorrow."

The article stated it was charged supplies from the temple's commissary had been sold to manufacture brandy from fruit donated to the temple, and that articles donated to the commissary were converted to the use of David Hutton Sr., father of the evangelist's husband.

Mrs. Hutton, herself, The Examiner continued, is pushing a "general house cleaning" at the temple as the rumors slowly from a serious illness, aggravated by the shock of a fall last Saturday night, when she fainted on learning that her husband had lost a breach of promise suit brought by Myrtle St. Pierre.

In response to a demand by the board of elders of the temple, Mrs. Hutton late today suspended Roy E. Watkins, investigator for Hutton before and during the St. Pierre trial. The elders affirmed their faith in Hutton but mentioned "an accumulation of events over the past year," as reason for discharge of Watkins, a temple employee.

Mrs. Hutton instructed her secretary to install a new manager in the commissary and place all the records of the charity branch before the social service commission.

The Examiner said Robert Edward Fisher, 70, bearing a letter of authorization as a solicitor from Watkins, admitted to the police he sold commissary supplies.

He led officers to the back yard of a house where he lived with three other temple solicitors, and there, The Examiner said, the officers found a pressure cooker converted into a still for the manufacture of brandy from fruit donated to the temple.

New Flood Threat.

SRINGAGAR, India, July 12.—(AP)—A threat of flood disaster equal to that of 1929, when hundreds lost their lives, hung over the valley of the Indus river today as the great Shiklok dam burst again in North Kashmir sent torrents of water sweeping down.

Hospital To Release 'Mercy Slayer' of Son

MASILLON, Ohio, July 12.—(AP)—James Stenhouse, 46, "mercy slayer" of his child, will be released from the state insane hospital tomorrow as normal both mentally and physically.

Stenhouse was committed to the hospital last January when the grand jury at Millersburg refused to indict him after he confessed to chloroforming his baby boy to death nearly three years ago. At the time, he said the child was suffering from an incurable brain disease and he "knew he was doing right" in ending its life.

Under Ohio law Stenhouse now may be tried for murder, but whether any action would be taken was doubtful.

SLIM CHANCE SEEN OF ROUSING GIRL FROM LONG SLEEP

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—The 150th day of Patricia Maguire's long sleep brought little hope that she would awaken.

All known treatments for her malady, sleeping sickness, have failed to arouse her from the coma into which she lapsed on February 15 as was preparing to leave her Oak Park home for church.

Research students and authorities on the disease have entered the case, described by her physician as one of the most baffling on record. A serum with which they are experimenting for the first time has been tried in an effort to help Miss Maguire, an attractive brunette of 27 years, but its effects have been meager.

In the meantime, life is sustained through nourishment administered through the nostrils every three hours and frequent massaging has prevented muscles from atrophy. The attending physician has avoided discussion of the case and of the serum on the advice of Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Association Journal.

Dr. Fishbein explained his stand by stating that "nothing can be told of the value of a serum merely from its effects on patients," and asserted the course he prescribed would prevent arousing false hopes in other cases. Dr. Fishbein said he was unable to state if Miss Maguire's almost six-month sleep constituted a record.

Decision in the matter will be made Wednesday, it is ascertained.

'LILY WHITES' DRAW MISSISSIPPI PROTEST

JACKSON, Miss., July 12.—(AP)—Leaders of the "lily white" faction of the Mississippi republican party tonight were confronted with a two-fold problem, the direct result of naming last week-end presidential electors and a full congressional ticket.

The "lily-whites," headed by Lamont Rowlands, who has had charge of the patronage in this state for the past four years, were informed today that the "black and tan" wing of the party, led by Perry Howard, national committeeman, and Dr. Reimold, were preparing a formal protest against placing of the "lily-white" electors and congressional candidates on the November election ballots.

SAO PAULO REVOLT THREATENS BRAZIL

Overthrow of National Government Now Seen as Aim of State Group.

SAO PAULO, Brazil, July 12.—(AP)—With the collapse of federal authority in the state of Sao Paulo, the revolutionary movement inaugurated Sunday emerged today as an attempt to seize control of the entire nation rather than to set up a separatist government.

Pedro de Toledo, who resigned as federal governor of Sao Paulo state and was immediately installed as head of the revolutionary government, declared the sole purpose of the revolt was to restore constitutionality to Brazil.

Meanwhile action in the field continued. Revolutionary headquarters announced that the "vanguard of the anti-government forces had captured a munitions factory at Piquete, 120 miles northeast of Sao Paulo and half-way to Rio de Janeiro.

Airmen sent out from Sao Paulo flew over Rio de Janeiro dropping handbills and newspapers in which the purposes of the movement were set forth.

The revolutionaries described their movement as essentially civilian in nature. In the meantime, the great strength was so immediately evident that the army and the Fuerza Publica joined up right away.

The ceremony at which Governor de Toledo was made revolutionary chief was attended by a vast throng, both civilian and military.

DRUNKEN MOBS COURSE THROUGH TRUJILLO STREETS

LIMA, Peru, July 12.—(AP)—Drunk mobs coursed through the streets of Trujillo looting and murdering during the period when the city was in control of rebels, dispatches reaching here from the north declared today.

Trujillo was seized Friday and was recaptured by loyal troops yesterday. Reports reaching here were that among the men slain by the revolutionaries during the time they ruled the city were Lieutenant Colonel Julio Silva Caceda and Major Oscar Perez Salmon.

Two persons who came down by airplane said the streets were filled with bodies and there was evidence of looting and burning.

"Furious drunken crowds, excited by the inciting speeches of their chiefs, ransacked and murdered like the vandals of barbarism of past ages," said the newspaper El Comercio.

When a detachment of the seventh infantry, which was loyal to the government, neared Trujillo they were ambushed by a large force of rebels and there was several hours of fighting with heavy losses on both sides.

Red Cross workers were busy today trying to clear away the signs of one of the bitterest battles in the history of Peruvian history. The government used hand, sea and air forces to recapture the city.

Hope Abandoned.

MEXICO CITY, July 12.—(AP)—Aviators flying over Mexico City-Central America air routes today had given up hope for Clarence H. McElroy, of Medaville, Ind., and Roy Gordon, of Tegucigalpa, Honduras, who have been missing since June 27 in the劫掠 of Tehuantepec. They were believed to have crashed to their death near Rincon Antonio, Oaxaca.

U. S. Arms Delegates Limited to $6 a Day

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Despite a personal plea today by Secretary Stimson, it appears the American delegates to the Geneva arms conference will have to live on $6 a day or pay the difference out of their own pockets.

Stimson called on Representative McDuffie, democrat, Alabama, chairman of the house economy committee. He sought house approval of a resolution already passed by the senate to permit Geneva delegates to continue drawing $25 a day. The $6 a day limitation on living expenses was provided in the national economy act.

HOOVER APPROVAL AWAITS BEER BILL, BRITTEN CLAIMS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Representative Britten, republican, Illinois, told the house today "the president will sign a beer bill if we pass it."

"I'll prove it," Britten added as the democrats shouted with laughter. Britten then quoted from a statement made by Hoover on June 4, 1918, when the president was food administrator, saying that "if the American people wanted prohibition they should vote it and not expect the food administration to take beer away from the workman."

An effort to bring up immediately a resolution submitting repeal of the 18th amendment to the states was dropped today by Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, because of objections by both democratic and republican leaders.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic chief of the opposition, opposed immediate consideration, remarking this was not the proper time to take up a repealer.

3 TARHEEL COLLEGES TO BE CONSOLIDATED

U. N. C., N. C. S. And Women's School Will Operate Under One Administration.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 12.—(AP)—Beginning with the fall term, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering at Raleigh and the North Carolina College for Women, at Greensboro, will be operated under one administration. All three are state supported schools.

The groundwork for the consolidation of the administrations into a "greater university" was laid by the 1931 general assembly which took the step as an economy measure and the board of trustees for the combined schools met here yesterday and began work on the details of the consolidation.

The board rejected a suggestion from a commission that the head of the greater university be called chancellor and voted to elect a president and three vice presidents.

Under the plan adopted by the trustees, the process of eliminating and consolidating departments of the schools which overlap will probably cover several years.

Beginning with the fall of 1933, the library training school at North Carolina College for Women will be transferred to Chapel Hill and the training of elementary teachers will be discontinued at Chapel Hill.

Economical Siam Drops Her General

BANGKOK, Siam, July 12.—(AP)—Siam's new constitutional monarchy inflicted heavy casualties today among the country's military officers, reducing the numbers of military officials from 41 to three.

Four lieutenant-generals, ten major generals, 22 colonels, and five naval captains were relieved as part of the new government's economy program.

RINGLING ASSOCIATES DECLARE HE IS WELL

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Reports that John Ringling, circus magnate, was critically ill and that both his legs had been amputated, were flatly denied by his business associates today.

They said that Ringling had been ill some weeks ago and that he had recently moved to a Coney Island hotel to recuperate. He was now in good health, they said, and there had never been any question of amputations.

Greenland Is Invaded By Norway's Forces

OSLO, Norway, July 12.—(UP)—The Norwegian government occupied southeastern Greenland today, bringing to a head the dispute with Denmark over possession.

The dispute has been put before the World Court at the Hague, which has not acted as yet.

EGYPTIAN PRINCESS SHOOT'S FRENCHMAN

PARIS, July 12.—(AP)—The Egyptian Princess Samrak Mansour, said to be a relative of King Fouad, today shot and slightly wounded a real estate agent named Rene Leger, then tried unsuccessfully to commit suicide.

Police said it appeared that the cause of the attack was Leger's determination to dismiss an employee, Raymond Stephani, who is a friend of the princess.

CREDIT

"JUST WHAT is Credit as we hear the term used in business," I asked of the bank.

"Your credit today is what you have made your name worth by years of honest dealing, right living and the ability and disposition to meet obligations promptly," they told me. "Any reliable bank is the greatest force in helping a business man to build up credit."

"The man who is favorably known at the bank has a distinct advantage over the one who is not. There comes a time in almost every man's life when it will be very valuable to him to have the recommendation or endorsement of a good bank."

"That is why we are not satisfied merely to have people depositing their money in the bank. We want to know these people personally and there may come a day when that personal acquaintance can mean a great deal to them."

The curious part about the situation is that many people do not realize the banking accommodations to which they are entitled, and never come in to find out about them.

'TRAVIATA' TO OPEN ATHENS MUSIC FETE

'Madame Butterfly' Scheduled for Presentation Friday Night.

ATHENS, Ga., July 12.—"La Traviata" will open the summer school's 1932 opera season at the University of Georgia Wednesday night, following the opening of the state music teachers' institute, conducted by Hugh Hodgson, of Atlanta and Athens.

The principal for both "Traviata" and "Madame Butterfly," which will be presented Friday night, arrived Sunday and rehearsals were begun Monday afternoon. Fred Patton, of the Metropolitan, who will sing the roles of Germont and Sharpless in the two operas, arrived Monday night, being detained with the Cincinnati Festival Opera Company, with which he is singing this summer. Queena Maria and Dimitri Onofri have been practicing, both with and without the chorus and orchestra, accompanied by Corine Wolerson, who arrived with them Sunday. Beatrice Schaller, who will be Suzuki in "Madame Butterfly," is expected Wednesday.

Registration for the music institute will be held Wednesday at Memorial Hall. The registration fee will include admission to "Traviata" and entitle one to lunch on Thursday at Memorial Hall with the opera stars.

The institute program will open Wednesday morning with a welcome by President Sanford and a vocal selection by artists of the operas in the chapel at 11:15 o'clock. Later, Margaretta Morris Parrott will be presented in a piano and violin recital, which will be followed by a discussion of the development of grand opera in the south.

After the intermission, a recital will be offered in the chapel at 2:30 o'clock, presenting Minna Hecker, coloratura soprano; John Hoffman, baritone; George Allan, tenor, and Irene Leftwich, pianist, all of whom have appeared here during the winter season of the University on Mr. Hodgson's Thursday night programs.

At 4 o'clock Lawrence G. Nelson will open on "Pachelbel's Music" and at 4:30 o'clock Tom Brumby, Mike McDowell, Irene Leftwich and Hugh Hodgson will present a concert, each pianist interpreting a different composer: Pachelbel, Schumann, Grieg, and Saint-Saëns, respectively. This is to be followed at 5:45 by an organ recital played by Mr. Nelson.

Thursday morning the institute will open at 9 o'clock with a study of Bach's two-part inventions, illustrated by Mabelle Horton, Irene Leftwich and others. At 10 o'clock Claire Harper will present a short violin recital, and at 10:30 o'clock Lucile Marsh will talk on "Music and the Dance." At 11:15 o'clock there will be a piano recital by Caroline Gray, who taught at Lucy Cobb several years ago, and frequently played before Athenians, both in person and over the radio.

At 12 o'clock the Wolff will discuss "Music and the Press," after which there will be an intermission, followed by a luncheon at Memorial Hall, and adjournment of the institute.

An interesting sidelight of the performance of "Traviata" is the presentation to Athenian audiences of Mary Rountree, a Georgia girl, who received most of her vocal training in Georgia. She will sing the role of Flora.

Thursday night Miss Marsh will present another of her dance recitals at the Physical Education building.

AUGUSTA ARMEN SEEK NATIONAL GUARD UNIT

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 12.—(AP)—Aviation enthusiasts here are seeking establishment in Augusta of a national guard aviation unit.

He said he had learned that the government in the past has appropriated funds for such purposes, but had been unable to learn whether there was any money available now for the purpose.

Equal School Privileges Sought for Rural Children

P-T. A. Institute and Superintendents Hear Plea for Banishment of County Boundaries.

ATHENS, Ga., July 12.—A statewide school survey was recommended today to members of the P-T. A. institute and the State School Superintendents' Association, conducting institutes at the University of Georgia summer school. The recommendation was made by Dr. James E. Sidel, New York educator, who said county boundaries should be eliminated in order to make possible the establishment of up-to-date consolidated schools, giving rural citizens the same opportunities now enjoyed by urban dwellers.

The two institutes will close tomorrow. Tonight's session was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Martin, who recently returned from a trip abroad. Others on the program included Mrs. Alva Maxwell and Mrs. E. E. Quillian.

The P-T. A. institute tomorrow morning will be addressed by Dr. W. E. Abernethy, state health commissioner.

Dr. Sidel suggested that Georgia adopt the Alabama system, which permits pupils in contiguous counties to attend school districts, enabling them to provide better educational facilities than otherwise possible.

Dr. Sidel also suggested that the Georgia State Teachers' College, asserted policies in the cause of many teachers being without work now, due to the inability of rural schools to take the positions of teachers through "pull."

B. M. Grier, superintendent of the Athens public schools, said the state department of education should be permitted to elect the state school superintendent instead of having him appointed by the governor. In that way, he said, superintendents would be selected by those who are professionally acquainted with their qualifications.

M. L. Duggan, state school superintendent, predicted a new era for education in Georgia. He said the state school laws are meeting with success, and a committee now working on the matter is expected to be ready to report to the next general assembly.

Kyle T. Alford, Maccon, secretary of the Georgia Education Association, declared Georgia needs four things: equitable distribution of tax income, adequate support of all state activities, payment of all debts and revision or reorganization of the school code.

Dr. J. L. Campbell, Atlanta, representing the state medical association, spoke briefly on the causes and prevention of cancer. Mrs. Bonita White, head of the state medical auxiliary, spoke on mothers' welfare.

ROCKDALE JURY URGES TWO CHANGES IN CODE

Recommendations Aimed at Effecting Savings in Time and Cost.

CONYERS, Ga., July 12.—Two revisions in Georgia criminal procedure, both aimed to effect economies in court, time and costs, were recommended this week in presentations returned by the Rockdale grand jury.

The text of the grand jury's recommendations follows:

"We, the grand jury, believing that our criminal courts cost too much money and time to all concerned, it is the opinion of this grand jury (July term, 1932), Rockdale superior court, that our laws as to criminal procedure should be changed in at least two particulars, viz:

"(1) Accusations should be had in all cases where defendant desires to plead guilty, or to be heard before the judge without a jury.

"This change will remove from the grand jury a large number of cases, and permit prisoners to be given a prompt hearing, at a large saving to the court.

"Under the present laws, witnesses must appear before the preliminary court, then before the grand jury and then in trial court.

"(2) At present an array of 48 jurors is required in all felony cases. We believe that an array of 24 jurors, with six strikes to each is sufficient.

"We urge these changes of law upon our representatives and senators. The recommendations were signed by L. A. Bowen, foreman; L. W. Waters, clerk, and approved by Judge John B. Hutcheson and Major Claude C. Smith, solicitor-general of the Stone Mountain circuit.

Co-op Gardens Fill Winter Larders For Mill Workers and Unemployed

MACON, Ga., July 12.—Not even the "Plant-a-Garden" campaign of the World War days exceeded in results or interest the garden work that has been carried on in recent months in some of the cotton mill communities of Georgia, notably at Porterdale and Bibb City, the latter near Columbus.

With the garden campaign at Porterdale, where mills have been working on curtailed hours, there has been combined hog raising and it is estimated that between 25,000 and 50,000 pounds of meat will be cured this fall and winter. More than 400 gardens are under cultivation, providing all families with an abundant supply of fresh vegetables, while canning classes operating under the supervision of the community Women's Club are canning the surplus products. E. J. Brown, director of outdoor activities at Porterdale, is gathering records kept by various individuals and he expects these figures to show handsome returns from the outlay of energy and seed.

R. B. Newton, at Bibb City, reports 485 gardens under cultivation, the greatest concentration of action in such a movement in the Columbus district. Canning lessons are given twice weekly at a community kitchen, and the surplus will be put away for use during the winter months.

Preparations now going on indicate the usual fall and winter gardens will be planted on a more extensive scale than ever. There is no idle time in the mill community where there are gardens, for this time is being converted into beans and potatoes.

SCIENTISTS OF 2 UNIVERSITIES PROVE OLD GOLD COOLEST SMOKE

who saw Old Gold win Scientific Test

Sam Taub is one of the leading newspaper authorities on the boxing game. Both his column, "In a Ring-side Seat," and his radio broadcasts of leading fights are the last word to boxing enthusiasts.

Karl K. Kitchen's two columns, "Mr. Manhattan," which deals with New York personalities, and "Karl K. Kitchen Presents," appear in over 60 papers, and have a wide and loyal following.

LABORATORY CHECK PLACES O. G. FIRST, IN COOL THROAT-EASE

Decisive Results in Favor of O. G. Obtained by Scientists From Specimens of Four Leading Brands Purchased in 20 Different Parts of the Country

Independent tests conducted by scientists of two leading Eastern Universities corroborated the findings of the New York Testing Laboratories. The educators verified conclusively that Old Golds are the coolest of the four leading cigarette brands; indicating the use of finer quality tobaccos, the selection of milder and choicer leaf and the absence of heat-generating flavorings.

Purchasing their cigarettes through certified accountants in 20 different sections of the country with widely varying climatic conditions, the scientists said they were able to establish beyond all doubt that Old Golds' coolness was not altered by climatic extremes.

"There was no doubting the accuracy of the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter—it is one of the most reliable methods for measuring heat-content known to Science," said one of the educators, "so we employed the same type of instrument."

"And when test after test showed Old Golds consistently cooler than the three other brands, and the Fahrenheit temperature of the smoke definitely cooler, there was no alternative but to decide for Old Golds," he insisted.

Inasmuch as coolness in a cigarette requires finer and purer tobaccos and absence of artificial flavoring, this scientific verdict proves Old Gold a cigarette of choicest tobacco quality—pure tobacco without added flavorings.

Selections from each lot of cigarettes bought for these tests have been sealed in airtight containers, labeled to show in which sections of the country they were purchased.

To any technical or scientific authority a signed report of the complete findings of these two scientists will be sent on request. P. Lorillard Company, Inc., 119 West 40th St., New York City.

OLD GOLDS ARE PURE TOBACCO • NO ARTIFICIAL FLAVORING

THE EVIDENCE OF SCIENCE

"This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B.T.U.s, with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

Old Gold averages 112 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B.T.U.s. Cooler than Brand Z

"To further verify Old Gold's coolness, the temperature (Fahrenheit) of the smoke of each cigarette brand was checked and Old Gold's smoke was found to be definitely cooler than the smoke of the other three brands."

HARVEY HILL MEDICIST WITH 75 IN AMATEUR

Howard Beckett, the Capital City Club professional who prepared his course for the state golf tournament now in progress, disappeared from the scene at intervals during the qualifying rounds were on.

There were, figuratively speaking, quite a few loud detonations here and there on the course as some of the favored few blew up. And ex-champions and dark horses and favorite sons came in with frowns, imprecations and high scores.

Beckett had made his course just as tough as any the state golfing army has encountered in the annual summer offensives. The combination of added distance, heat and summer rules took a heavy toll. There had been some hints that the Capital City course might see quite a lot of low scoring. But the moans of the wounded echoed over it Tuesday.

Golfers were playing from the back of new tees, long tees, that had been constructed during the spring. They were meeting some new greens and quite a few were becoming familiar with the interiors of glowering, deep sand traps. The sand was proving especially vexatious to players from smaller courses over the state which do not have the yawning traps blanketed with thick sand. Beckett usually disappeared just before some consistent low scorer in past tournaments came home with an 86 or 89. He may have been afraid that some of the boys would go berserk.

"The added distance of 15 or 20 yards on each hole makes quite a difference," said Colonel Lowry Arnold, as he finished his 18 holes. Colonel Lowry, president of the state and southern amateur, has been playing golf, man and boy, for at least a couple of decades and is immensely pleased with the present tournament. It is a vast affair, there being more than 160 entries. Colonel Lowry and his efficient committee, in producing the greatest entry list in four years, have accomplished a remarkably fine testimonial for the enduring qualities of game.

AREN'T YOU A PREACHER?

Quite the best golf story told around the starter's tent is the one which dates back to a tournament some years ago when the late George Adair was below and familiar figure at all Georgia tournaments.

He had two friends, each from a different city. Both were splendid gentlemen and both were addicted to the pleasant and harmless habit of swearing diligently and happily at their respective games of golf.

As the story goes, Mr. Adair took each aside, when he learned they were to qualify together, and explained seriously that each was to play a preacher, a man who would violently disapprove of any form of "I don't want you to disgrace me as this man is a friend of mine, and knows you are a friend of mine, too" was the explanation.

And so the two met at the first tee and started. After two holes both were red of face and near bursting with pent-up emotion. They struggled on, each extremely polite to the other, until the 15th. There one of the gentlemen missed a short putt for a win. He was hit apoplectic but he said nothing. At the 16th he missed another.

This time human flesh could not resist and he expressed himself in no uncertain terms. His opponent heard in amazed silence.

"Aren't you a preacher?" he yelled in delight, as he rushed over.

"Blank, blank, no, aren't you?"

And then their arms about each other's shoulders and the air was filled with little "I don't want you to disgrace me" and the beginning of a beautiful friendship and after qualifying they played another 18 just to enjoy it together.

SPLENDID SPORTSMANSHIP.

One of the real tragedies of the qualifying rounds was the fate of Charles Black Jr., former champion. On a dog-leg hole his caddy stupidly selected the wrong ball and Black played it before the error was discovered.

It was a heart-breaking occurrence to one who loves the game and the competition as much as Black. Yet he was the first to report it to the officials, announcing himself as disqualified. There is no finer sportsman than Charles Black.

His disqualification served to illustrate just how fickle are the fates. Nothing is sure in any sport but golf offers more opportunities for unlucky breaks than any other sport. And this explains why so many qualifying rounds offer acute surprises when the list of championship final qualifiers are finally determined.

THE TARZAN OF THE SEAS.

Wallace Caswell spent yesterday in Atlanta, paying the city his first visit. He is a man who has sailed the Panama City, Fla., who captures huge sea turtles of 400 pounds and up, with his bare hands. He also does little stunts like killing sharks with a knife and 3,000-pound devil fish with the same weapon.

Caswell, who arrived in Atlanta rather late Monday afternoon, was heard on the Monday night sports broadcast of The Constitution at 10:15 o'clock, and made a great impression.

He is on his way home after an exhibition at Charleston. Caswell has put in a new stunt in an army camp game. He now has a porpoise rodeo. A halter is slipped over their snout-like noses and Caswell rides the huge fish, usually getting six or eight jumps out of each. It is, according to those who have seen it, a thrilling sight to see the big black fish leap high out of the water with Caswell sitting astride like a cowboy on a bucking broncho.

Caswell, who plays the dangerous inhabitants of the deep with a hunting knife, is violently afraid of automobiles, riding down a mountain road in a automobile and speaking over the radio.

A few weeks ago I watched him as he struggled, 20 miles out in the gulf, with a sea turtle weighing 402 pounds after capture. And Monday night I saw the same fellow actually trembling and dry of lips as he sat waiting for the microphone.

NEW PLAYERS WELCOME.

Atlanta fans will welcome tomorrow night, when the Crackers open with the flying Lookouts, two familiar faces in new uniforms, Keller Bob Hasty, a Canton (Georgia) boy, and Bill Eisemann, both late of the Barons.

Keller Hasty was once a Cracker. He rather resents the fact that he is referred to as an aged and killing veteran. Hasty had never pitched until 1919 when the late Charles Frank discovered him pitching in an army camp game.

Hasty was optioned to Mobile in 1919 by the Crackers and sold to the Athletics at the end of that season. It required an official decision from the baseball powers to decide Hasty's owners. Hasty played with the Athletics until 1925 when he was sent to the Coast League. He remained in the Coast League until he came to Birmingham in 1928.

Eisemann is a graduate of Syracuse University, if there are any alumni here who care to know. He came to the Barons in 1920 from the Yankees.

Both players are loyal, conscientious men who will give their best to the Crackers. A change of scenery is likely to improve the play of both. At any rate the fans should give them a welcome and make them feel that there are still fans loyal to the game even though the club be lost in the second division.

CRACKERS SHOULD IMPROVE.

The Crackers have a rest-day today and on Thursday open with the Lookouts. The Crackers have an excellent chance to move along on even terms with the Lookouts in the series here.

The Cracker players should realize that there are still many loyal fans who are loyal to the game and the home team. The players, who have been hustling and doing their best under rather adverse conditions, can get off the bottom by a little more bearing-down out there.

And one wonders if Red Barron, the manager, does not wonder what has become of all those who were assuring him and the owners who selected him that they were loyal and unflinching support last spring? The Monroe boy is playing great baseball and has shown a capacity to inspire loyalty in his men. His club has a chance to finish strong and reach at least the fifth position in the league.

THE SELFISH MAJOR LEAGUES.

News that the major leagues have refused to help the Cotton States league in their efforts to survive, comes as another depressing factor in the baseball news of the day.

The major leagues should realize that cannot survive without minor league baseball. Some sort of plan whereby the major leagues extend help to deserving minor leagues should be worked out before next season.

The Cotton States league had less chance than other leagues because of its dependency on the land of cotton and the price of that staple. It is unfortunate that the majors could not extend the small amount of assistance necessary.

COUSIN JOE ADAMANT.

Cousin Joe Engel, of Chattanooga, again declares he had entered into no secret agreement to split the Southern Association league race. It is to be hoped that Cousin Joe has "learned" the boys.

Any agreement to split the season should be made before the season begins. A decision to that effect in mid-season is patently a false move.

THE GOLF SCORES.

One of the greatest features of Tuesday's qualifying rounds at the state golf tournament was the appearance of a number of the feminine golfers of the city.

They stood and watched the boys struggling home with scores that the ladies of the best on the same course.

"Why, these men are making the sort of scores we expect in a rain-storm," said one of the girls, as she looked scornfully over the board.

HASTY ARRIVES HERE TO PITCH SATURDAY GAME

Injuries Ruined Milan's Team; Club May Sell Off Veterans.

By Jimmy Jones.

Big Bob Hasty, the solid rock of the Birmingham Barons pitching staff in the drive to a Southern league pennant and a Dixie series title last year, brought his luggage to Atlanta yesterday, where he is to pitch his first game for the Crackers Saturday.

After four years in St. Louis, Bob feels like a wanderer returning to his native health, for it was here that Charley Frank gave him his first job back in 1919. Hasty was born and raised in Canton, Ga., and now maintains a home in Marietta. He will ask Red Barron to allow him to commute back and forth from there.

IN GOOD SHAPE.

"I'm in good shape and my arm is all right," Hasty stated upon arrival. The big fellow, who has won six games and lost seven this season, hopes to boost his record considerably beyond .500 with the Crackers. He won 21 games for the Barons last year.

Hasty cannot explain the general slump of the Barons hurlers this year. But the fact remains that he, Jimmy Walkup, Clay Touchstone and Ray Caldwell all have had tough sledding this year and have won about the same number of games. The Barons' team, however, has been shot to pieces by a season of major injuries to Caldwell, Abernathy, Cortez and Hord. This and the lack of consistent hitting has hurt the pitchers, sackcloth.

Hasty doesn't believe that Caldwell will ever be able to pitch effectively again, if at all. A torn cartilage in the veteran's knee necessitated an operation and since he has not been able to put much weight on it. He is too old to come back again, it is believed. He has been in baseball almost 20 years.

BARONS IN "RED."

It is Hasty's belief that Birmingham, due to lack of funds, will be unable to dispose of all its higher priced ball players and finish out the season with younger players in order to make ends meet. The steel mills are all idle there and the Barons have been in the red all year.

The big pitcher put in a real boost for Bill Eisemann, the catcher, who comes to the Crackers with him. He terms him a smart receiver, a fighting player with a good throwing arm.

"I believe he'll hit better here and I know he'll handle the pitchers with perfection," said Bob. Eisemann will be remembered as the player who broke up the 15-inning game between the Barons and Crackers here early in the season with a double.

Hasty is confident that he will be able to help the Cracker staff. He doesn't mind coming to a last-place club.

"Lots of men are inclined to class me as an old-timer," said Hasty, "but remember I didn't start pitching until I was 21 years old and on top of that Connie Mack kept me on the bench two years at Philadelphia learning the game."

He had never thrown a baseball until he entered the army during the war. There he met up with Charley Frank, who gave him a contract when hostilities were over.

Marquard, Mails To Pitch Friday.

Duster Mails and the Marquard, opponents of the historic World Series of 1902 between Cleveland and Brooklyn, will meet again in a mound duel Friday night at Ponce de Leon park. Atlanta plays Chattanooga.

Chick Ross made the announcement yesterday, after conferring with Managers Barron and Mails, that Mails, who had been Marquard's return to the mound, he challenged the Duster and Mails accepted. The pair did not meet on the mound until the day before. Prior to the 1920 series, Marquard and Mails were teammates at Brooklyn.

It also was announced yesterday that both Thursday and Friday games would be played at night. Saturday's game starting at 3 p. m.

Players Behave In Association

CHICAGO, July 12.—(P)—The ranks of the disorderly conduct boys in the American association are thinning rapidly—and for a reason.

The reason is simple. Instead of leaving heavy fines, President Thomas Hickey, of the American association, in his circuit, makes life miserable for managers by suspending their off-club players.

"We haven't fined an American association player for eight years," President Hickey recalled today as he looked over his files. "A fine doesn't mean anything as the baseball club pays it. A manager has to lose a regular and advises all of them to keep out of fight and in the lineup."

The only presidential victim this year was Manager Harrison "Dutch" Zwilling, of the Kansas City Blues, who got into a heated argument during the series against Minneapolis last week and received a three-day suspension.

"So for eight years we've been suspending the guilty ones and fights on the diamond have reached a minimum. A manager has to lose a regular and advises all of them to keep out of fight and in the lineup."

The only presidential victim this year was Manager Harrison "Dutch" Zwilling, of the Kansas City Blues, who got into a heated argument during the series against Minneapolis last week and received a three-day suspension.

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 12.—(P)—Keith Gledhill, of Los Angeles, topped in the 40th annual Longwood bowl tennis classic today led the field into the quarter finals by upsetting A. L. Turner, of Newton, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4. Berkeley Bell, of New York and Texas, ranked second in the draw, kept pace with the Californian by eliminating Martin Buxby, also from the Lone Star state, 6-3, 5-6, 6-3.

Golf Pro Resigns At Radium Springs

ALBANY, Ga., July 12.—(P)—Bully Bullwinkle, Radium Springs golf professional, has resigned effective August 1, it was announced yesterday by Floyd Allford, manager of Radium Springs. He will return October 1 to his old job at the Hibernia Club, Fleming Island, Fla., remaining here in the meantime. His successor here has not been selected.

Will Gunn Seeks Pennys Golf Title

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—(P)—About 100 of the best Simon pures in Pennsylvania met off tomorrow in the 35-hole qualifying round of the state amateur championship golf tournament at Oakmont.

Lloyd Beyer, Penn State student, defends the crown he won at Aronimink last year.

J. Wood Platt, Philadelphia, is regarded as a strong contender. Will Gunn Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., also has a large following.

CRACKERS BEAT SMOKIES, 5 TO 3

Lefty Carithers was in fine form and limited the Smokies to six hits. Training, 3 to 2, in the fifth, the Crackers opened up on Bolton and with the three runs they scored, kept ahead the rest of the game. Bolton was nipped for 10 hits during the fifth.

NEW YORK, July 12.—(P)—Cotton sold off today under liquidation and scattered selling promoted by favorable weather news and absence of aggressive support.

Lowest prices were reached in the late trading when October sold at 4.67, or 15 points, net lower and 15 points below the high of last week.

The opening was 3 to 6 points lower on near-month liquidation and scattered selling of later deliveries. Notices estimated at about 11,100 sales were issued against July contracts. Prices steadied after initial selling. Offerings then increased. The market sagged off later under comparatively light selling. July eased off to 5.54 in the late trading and member to 0.81 and the close was 0.80, or within a point of the lowest. The New York Cotton Exchange service estimates domestic consumption for June at 312,000 bales, compared with 454,000 last year, but these figures seemed to be without much effect on the market. Liverpool cables reported covering. Continental buying and calling in that market. Exports today, 19,497, making 8,539,411 so far this season. Port receipts, 8,229. United States port stocks, 3,529,615.

NEW ORLEANS, July 12.—(P)— Cotton developed only moderately active trading today as prices turned downward, losing 14 to 18 points net in liquidation induced by continued unfavorable weather in the belt.

The opening was irregular and disappointing as Liverpool came in 5 penny points better than due. Private cables stated that there was short covering, continental buying and made calling. Manchester cabled that the market there was quieter, the expectation of lower prices checking
